Chief Jones Retires after Over 50 Years of Service, 46 Years as Fire Chief

Earlier this year, Norridgewock Fire Chief David R. Jones announced his intent to resign as chief this October. With over 50 years of service to the Department, he was appointed to the chief's position in 1976, and remained at the helm for the duration.

On a recent, sunny, fall Saturday, Chief Jones was feted at the fire station by the Town and the Department for his dedicated service and sacrifice to Norridgewock and Mercer. The Town presented him with a golden axe with the message, "With sincere gratitude and appreciation for your tireless dedication to the fire service." State Senator Brad Farrin and State Representative Jack Ducharme were also present to recognize Chief Jones with a Legislative Sentiment.

Deputy Chief Todd Pineo presented the outgoing chief with a ceremonial leather fire bucket, a gift from firefighters past and present. Fire buckets were used in earlier times as a method of extinguishing fires. Fire buckets were found in most homes and businesses. They were often made of leather with leather-covered rope handles. Fire buckets would usually be filled and passed down long lines of people as they worked to get the water to put directly on a fire or to feed a fire engine.

Chief David Jones, 332 Wilder Hill Rd.,
Norridgewock, ME 04957

RETIRED NUMBER • A banner hangs from the rafters of the fire station, recognizing the retirement of Fire Chief David R. Jones.

Hundreds of people gathered at the open house throughout the afternoon to visit and pay thanks to Chief Jones for his remarkable service. Family traveled across Maine and he also had siblings join from Rhode Island and the Carolinas. With many friends and family gathered, a banner (pictured above) was lowered from the rafters of the station, retiring Chief Jones' number—200.

On display around the station were archived newspaper articles covering significant events related to the Norridgewock fire service since his being appointed chief. The students in Ms. Crowley's 3rd grade class at Mill Stream Elementary School also sent handmade cards and letters thanking the chief, wishing him a happy and healthy retirement.

The celebration was sponsored by Skowhegan Savings Bank, the Hight Family of Dealerships, and Waste Management. ♦

New Trail Parking Access Coming to Downtown & Main Street

The TIF Committee searched for an opportunity to improve the Emery Town Square property on Main Street, knowing that it abuts the rail trail and that the trail would have an impact on this space. To capitalize on this, the committee sought proposals for installing a fence and/or retaining wall to create a more attractive greenspace, while setting aside a better defined parking area for recreational vehicles.

The committee recommended moving forward with a retaining wall towards the back of the Square and lining the perimeter of the Square with boulders. The rear of the lot will allow for access to the trail. This project will enhance access to downtown businesses for recreators, but also supports expanded parking for Main Street. Nickerson Yard Maintenance is the contractor completing the project. ◆

David Savage Confirmed as Fire Chief

After a lengthy, yet thorough, selection process, the Town recently announced David Savage as the new fire chief for Norridgewock. In effect, this selection also makes him the new chief for Mercer. The competitive hiring process was guided by a reconfigured position description, targeting an expanded administrative role, as well as ensuring there was sufficient coverage.

David Savage was unanimously recommended by the hiring committee, nominated by the Town Manager, and recently confirmed by the Select Board. Savage brings a strong, diverse background in emergency services; he has served in both police and fire. He has been a member of Oakland Fire & Rescue for over ten years.

Many in Norridgewock already know Chief Savage, as he has been Code Enforcement Officer since 2018. In redefining the roles and ensuring maximum coverage, he will continue as CEO for 20 hours per week, while working in his chief capacity for 20 hours. This structure provides for expanded coverage for fire leadership, but also helps bridge a gap, in terms of Code Enforcement access. If there is a fire call while he is working code, he is available. If the chief is working at the station, he is still accessible to residents for code concerns. This structure is the best long-term solution for the Town, while helping to expand access for taxpayers.

Welcome to the NFD and best of luck, Chief Savage! ◆

NFD Joins Mill Stream for Fun, Educational Opportunity

Across the nation, October is recognized as Fire Safety Month. Here in Norridgewock, Lieutenant Josh and Firefighters Andrew and Tanisha visited Mill Stream Elementary to educate youngsters about fire safety. The students also had a chance to get into the fire engine and learn more about firefighting as a career. It is always a fun experience for everyone! Photos below. ◆

A Book, a Bench, and a Place in the Sun

The Norridgewock Public Library has been gifted a new bench for our children's section, in memory of Avis Emery, a lifelong resident of the Town of Norridgewock. From the moment the bench was installed, children have been drawn to it. Stored underneath are our pre-school books. Young children can explore their choice of book, sitting on the sky-blue cushion, with the sun shining onto the page. An adult has room for a child on each side to read a story.

Children were a great delight to Avis and, according to her obituary, "She always found ways to show that she cared." It is said that Avis was an attentive listener who allowed others around her "space to shine." It is this quiet kindness that guides children and adults to a full and wholesome life. She has blessed her friends, her family, and her town with her quiet, but steadfast goodness.

Avis will be remembered when a child can read a new word, enjoy a silly picture, and learn a new rhyme. She will surround them with love. ◆ CP

CHILDREN'S BENCH • This bench was donated in memory of the late Avis Emery. Located in the children's area of the Mercer Road library, it is a wonderful place for children to enjoy a good book.

New Dining Option in Town: Six Penny Jug

If you've been down Main Street in Norridgewock lately, you might have noticed some extra activity. Why, you ask? Six Penny Jug has opened its doors! On November 1, owner/operator Kent Eliassen opened the doors to his new restaurant, welcoming in patrons that lined the sidewalks looking to check out the newly renovated space and see what the menu has to offer.

The menu features a variety of appetizers, sides, salads, burgers, and entrees. From some of the tastiest chicken wings to a wedge salad, a juicy pork tenderloin sandwich or a meatloaf dinner. There are so many things to try and something for every last taste bud.

The space inside may be small, but it provides a warm atmosphere and doesn't lose touch with our rural Maine feel. Stop on by and see what you think! Regular hours are Tuesday through Thursday, noon to 9 pm; Friday and Saturday, noon to 10 pm; and Sunday, noon to 8 pm. ◆
